BENEFITS OF WORKING WITH RESOLUTE

Outsourcing some or all your back office needs to Resolute will help you grow your business faster and allow you to operate more efficiently and more profitably. It will allow you to compete with large firms without having to invest significant money in building the infrastructure needed to deliver all the services that go with running a staffing or PEO company.

- 1. More time to focus on your core competencies. Every business has limited resources, no matter how large or small, and every employee has limited time. Outsourcing can help your business focus on mastering the selling and delivering of staffing and PEO services to your clients, while leaving these essential, but back office functions to Resolute.
- 2. Compete with the “big” firms and deliver like them. Without investing the time or expense to build the infrastructure that is required to run your business, outsourcing gives you the same access to expertise, efficiencies, and economies of scale as large organizations without the price tag of adding to your full time staff.
- 3. Operational efficiencies and expertise. With outsourcing, you have experts with developed, proven processes from day one, allowing you to realized significant results immediately which would take a much longer time to build on your own.
- 4. Risk mitigation. While it is hard for a small team to keep up with everything that creates risk for your company, our team provides expertise and guidance, from understanding local, state and federal employment and tax laws, having safety practices in place to minimize workers’ compensation exposure, and all the efforts that go into ensuring available funds when needed and so much more.

RECRUITMENT

Executive Search

Executive search firms find full-time employees for their clients. The search firm sources, recruits and interviews candidates (many that may not be immediately identifiable in the market) for their client's full-time job openings.

Engaged Search

This search is conducted to find qualified candidates to fill open jobs. Resolute charges a portion of the placement fee as a retainer. The balance of the fee is due when a candidate is hired. An Engaged Search is typically used for higher-level positions, hard to fill positions or positions that require more in-depth research and considerable resources.

Retained Search

The client pays a predetermined fee for the search firm to identify, qualify, screen and interview for executive-level positions. A Retained Search requires considerable consulting time and an extensive process to identify the right candidates. This search is exclusive and the fee is typically paid in thirds: 1/3 at contract signing, 1/3 upon submission of a short list of candidates and 1/3 when a candidate is hired.

Contingent Search

Resolute is paid only upon the successful hiring of a candidate. No fee is paid unless someone is hired for the open position.

COMPLIANCE

We often assume when we train our staff on proper procedures and they follow the steps you've asked them to follow. However, our experience shows that when people are busy, they take shortcuts.

Compliance is complex. It includes everything from following client specific needs like proper rates, screenings, and invoicing procedures to employment, compensation, and legal regulations that vary from town to town can give a business owner reasons to pause.

Our compliance services can help you rest at bit easier with such things as our employee and contract auditing; communicating requirements and changes to local, state/provincial, and federal laws; credentialing management; ACA program compliance; Employee paperwork; e-Verify; and so much more.
